Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 14-15 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Pat. No. 5,168,590 to O'Sullivan.

Claim 14, O'Sullivan discloses a method for carrying the pressure-distributing medium in a personal mobility vehicle cushion, the method comprising the steps of:

- a) providing a cushion cover having a pocket 16,
- b) inserting a pressure-distributing medium 26 in the pocket, and
- c) inserting a base 200 in the cover so that the pressure-distributing medium is positioned above the base.

Claim 15 further comprising the step of fastening the cover closed (col. 3 lines 66-68).

Claim 18, further comprising the step of providing a pocket opening that further faces forward of the cover.

Claims 14 and 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Pat. No 6,151,733 to Takashima.

Claim 14, Takashima discloses a method for carrying the pressure-distributing medium in a personal mobility vehicle cushion, the method comprising the steps of:

- a) providing a cushion cover 3 having a pocket 32,

Art Unit: 3673

b) inserting a pressure-distributing medium 1 in the pocket, and

c) inserting a base 2 in the cover so that the pressure-distributing medium is positioned above the base.

Claim 16, further comprising the step of providing the pocket within the cover.

Claim 17, further comprising the step of providing a pocket opening that faces interiorly of the cover.

Claim 18, further comprising the step of providing a pocket opening that further faces forward of the cover.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4 and 6-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Pat. No. 5,592,707 to Dinsmoor et al. in view of U.S. Pat. No. 5,168,590 to O'Sullivan.

Claim 1, Dinsmoor discloses a seat cushion comprising:

a base 4;

a pressure-distributing medium 5 supported by the base; and a cover 3 covering the base and the pressure-distributing medium. Dinsmoor fails to disclose the cover comprising a pocket for receiving the pressure-distributing medium. O'Sullivan discloses a cover for a cushion having a pocket 16. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to employ a pocket as taught by O'Sullivan with the cover of Dinsmoor in order to easily insert and remove the pressure-distributing medium.

Claim 2, wherein the pressure distributing medium is a fluid pad.

Claim 3, wherein the base includes a posterior seat well for receiving bony prominences of a wheelchair occupant (col. 3 lines 45-48)(Dinsmoor).

Claim 4, wherein the pocket is positioned at a rear of the cover substantially over the seat well.

Claim 6, wherein the pocket includes an opening 13 at a front end thereof.

Claim 7 wherein the pocket is closed along a rear and lateral sides of the cover (col. 3 lines 62-63).

Claim 8, further including at least one fastener in the pocket for securing the pressure-distributing medium therein (col. 3 lines 66-68)(O'Sullivan).

Claim 9, wherein the at least one fastener is in the form of a hook-and-loop type fastener (col. 3 lines 66-68)(O'Sullivan).

Claim 10, further comprising top and bottom fabric panels joined together with an opening provided therebetween that is selectively opened and closed via one or more fasteners (col. 3 lines 66-68)(O'Sullivan).

Claim 11, wherein the one or more fasteners is a slideable fastener (col. 3 lines 66-68)(O'Sullivan).

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Pat. No. 5,592,707 to Dinsmoor et al. in view of U.S. Pat. No. 6,151,733 to Takashima.

Claim 1, Dinsmoor discloses a seat cushion comprising:

a base 4;

a pressure-distributing medium 5 supported by the base; and a cover 3 covering the base and the pressure-distributing medium. Dinsmoor fails to disclose the cover comprising a pocket for receiving the pressure-distributing medium. Takashima discloses a cover for a cushion having a pocket 32. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to employ a pocket as taught by Takashima with the cover of Dinsmoor in order to store the pressure-distributing medium.

Claim 2, wherein the pressure distributing medium is a fluid pad.

Claim 3, wherein the base includes a posterior seat well for receiving bony prominences of a wheelchair occupant (col. 3 lines 45-48)(Dinsmoor).

Claim 4, wherein the pocket is positioned at a rear of the cover substantially over the seat well.

Claim 5, wherein the pocket is provided within the cover.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 12-11 and 19-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Art Unit: 3673
